

Accessibility Formats

We changed the homework format in response to comments from families as well as to make the format dyslexia friendly (as part of our accessibility strategy we are implementing it gradually across the school). Having access to the relevant hyperlinks for relevant documents plus extra resources when needed is also helpful as well as being able to read the screen clearer on a phone.

There is an accessibility view and for families who need a different font or transferred to speech, it can be edited easily (see below) and if you prefer the old version – you can access a similar format by following the instructions below.

Here are some screenshots to demonstrate how to alter the format

Option 2: Range of formats

The image shows a screenshot of a Google Classroom interface. At the top right, there is a dark grey bar with three icons: a share icon, a gear icon, and a three-dot menu icon. Below the three-dot menu, a white dropdown menu is open, listing the following options: Print, Export, Accessibility View, Sign in, and Help. The 'Export' option is circled with a red, hand-drawn scribble. In the background, there is a large, stylized illustration of a maple leaf in shades of orange and red. The text 'Maple Class' and 'Homework 14' is partially visible in the background.
